

BRINSON SWANN

COASTAL REGGAE ARTIST
BILLBOARD TOP 100 PRODUCER

Florida native Brinson Swann is quickly becoming a name to know in reggae music. Blending the laid-back feel of California reggae with East Coast energy and radio-ready pop hooks, Brinson brings a coastal edge while staying true to roots reggae's timeless message of "one love."

In 2026, the independent artist surpassed 75,000 monthly listeners on Spotify. Among his growing list of achievements, Brinson has shared a sold-out Daytona Beach stage with several members of Stick Figure, performed at Florida's iconic Jannus Live alongside Trevor Young of SOJA, and appeared at multiple festivals across the state, including Reggae Rise Up Florida. With momentum on his side, Brinson continues to help shape the future of reggae while positioning Florida as the genre's next global hub.

In 2018, after earning a finance degree from Stetson University, Brinson co-founded The Palace Recording Studio. Voted the #1 recording studio in Florida, The Palace helped establish Brinson's reputation on the national stage as a producer and engineer for notable artists including Jelly Roll, Joe Nester, and Grammy Award-winning group Morgan Heritage. His production credits include Savannah Dexter's "Savages," which climbed the Billboard Top 100 album sales chart in February 2021.

While Brinson has since shifted his primary focus to creating and performing his own music, he continues to earn recognition for his work behind the scenes, ranking among the top 1% of producers globally.
